The National Institute of Dramatic Art (NIDA) is Australia's leading centre for education and training in theatre, film and television. NIDA is a hub for Australia's creative sector, bringing leading artists, academics and industry professionals together to develop the next generation of artists and industry leaders.

NIDA offers higher education courses in Acting, Costume, Design for Performance, Directing, Properties and Stage Management, and Writing for Performance. Each course is designed around NIDA's conservatoire approach, which involves an immersive and collaborative educational experience. Check NIDA's website for more information about the undergraduate and graduate courses and the steps you can take in order to join NIDA's long list of nationally and internationally renowned graduates.
