Design Centre Hunter

Design Centre Hunter is a connected, collaborative hub that inspires and supports students, teachers and industry in design related disciplines to work together in new and innovative ways. These disciplines include though are not exclusive to Architecture, Graphic, Interior, Fashion, Floristry, Industrial and Kitchen Design as well as Furniture Making, Performing Arts, Signage, Hair & Beauty, Digital Media and Fine Arts.

With strong industry links, the Design Centre enables students to work on real life projects with students from other disciplines, exhibit work in displays and events and attend forums and share knowledge with industry partners. Teachers work as a design group, creating an innovative approach to the design field, building industry connections and career paths for students, actively promoting the excellence of Hunter TAFE teachers, students and alumni.

Newcastle Fashion School

For the past 8 years, the Newcastle Fashion School has held the highly acclaimed NEWGEN Fashion Parade. A professional industry event, it is a showcase of work from diploma and advanced diploma students, through collaboration with other Hunter TAFE disciplines including Hair & Beauty, Music and a specialised event production team. Since 2013, students in the advanced diploma course have enjoyed the opportunity to travel to Bali on a study tour to meet manufacturers and have some of their very own garments made which are sold under the student's 'Notched' label.

Hair & Beauty

With industry standards regularly changing, Hunter TAFE offers the latest training solutions from entry level and gap training to advanced creative and business classes. In state-of-the-art modern salon facilities, our practical based delivery ensures a hands-on approach with a lot of exposure to clients, to meet the requirements of the industry.

Newcastle Media & Film School

Newcastle Media & Film School at Hunter St Campus offers fantastic opportunities for those aspiring for a career in digital and screen media. We do this by connecting students with real clients and giving them the opportunity to work out in the field, in the lab and studio.

Located in the heart of the Newcastle's flourishing art scene, Hunter St Campus is also home to Hunter TAFE's renowned Newcastle Art School, an exciting learning environment boasting drawing and painting studios, printmaking facilities, a design room, traditional and digital photography lab and a sculpture facility. Graphic Design courses at Newcastle Campus use a practical and unique studio based learning mode focusing on conceptual development and production of creative graphic design solutions for print and digital media. This career orientated course allows you to explore the skills and knowledge needed to enter the graphic design industry.

PERFORMING ARTS

- Acting
- Dance
- Musical Theatre
- Live Production & Technical Services

Regional Institute of Performing Arts (RIPA)

The Regional Institute of Performing Arts (RIPA) is an innovative and energetic centre for performing arts training with a reputation for offering quality practice-led training in acting, dance, live production and events. In 2016, RIPA is offering 8 full time courses and 2 dual qualifications.

Students are encouraged to combine their love of performance and entertainment with the reality of creating, securing and pursuing employment opportunities. Students are taught techniques that focus and develop their performing, writing, directing, choreographic or technical producing skills.

Our teachers are award-winning practitioners actively involved in industry practice. The knowledge, skills and practical application gained through our training means you are better positioned to respond to projects as required by industry. Reaching this level of professionalism greatly increases your employment opportunities in the performing arts, entertainment and arts-related industries, such as health, youth and community sectors.
