Bachelor of Graphic Design

3 years full time

www.latrobe.edu.au/visualarts

This course aims to equip students with the creative and technical skills necessary for employment as a graphic designer in a variety of professional situations. The Bachelor of Graphic Design involves three years of full-time study.

Bachelor of Graphic Design (Honours)

1 year full time

www.latrobe.edu.au/visualarts

The Bachelor of Graphic Design (Honours) is intended to foster a spirit of excellence and a strong sense of independent artistic inquiry. It is designed to meet the needs of designers who seek a higher intellectual and artistic achievement than is practical at an undergraduate level. It addresses these needs at a professional level in graphic design practice (studio) and visual art (design) theory and research. Consistent with the rationale of fostering a sense of independent artistic inquiry, the program provides an opportunity for graduates to explore a specific genre within graphic design (designated by themselves in an approved study program), in a manner not possible with the more generalised requirements of an undergraduate program.

Bachelor of Visual Arts

3 years full time

www.latrobe.edu.au/visualarts

In this course students are encouraged to specialise or to diversify in line with contemporary practice in the visual arts. The strong lecture and studio sequence of Theory and Methodologies in Studio Practice units is structured to accelerate development in the range and depth of students' creative concepts, resulting in the production of folios in their major medium, selected from an offering of ceramics, painting and drawing, photography, printmaking or multimedia. Visual Arts Media Workshops in these major media expand students' technical expertise through challenging applied assignments. Comparative Studies in Visual Media provide opportunities to explore new means of combining and hybridising media from another discipline in conjunction with the major, and this unit itself can become a major study. Additional disciplines of illustration and photojournalism provide further options in this unit. The three years in the degree are supported by a vigorous Art and Visual Culture program.

Bachelor of Visual Arts (Honours)

1 year full time

www.latrobe.edu.au/visualarts

The Bachelor of Visual Arts (Honours) is intended to foster a spirit of excellence and a strong sense of independent artistic inquiry. It is designed to meet the needs of visual artists who seek a higher intellectual and artistic achievement than is practical at undergraduate level. It addresses these needs at a professional level in practice (studio) and visual art theory and research. The inspiration for the high level of artistic achievement is encouraged by the opportunity to pursue an individual program of study at greater depth in either a technical, theoretical or conceptual component, thus forming the core of students' artistic exploration.

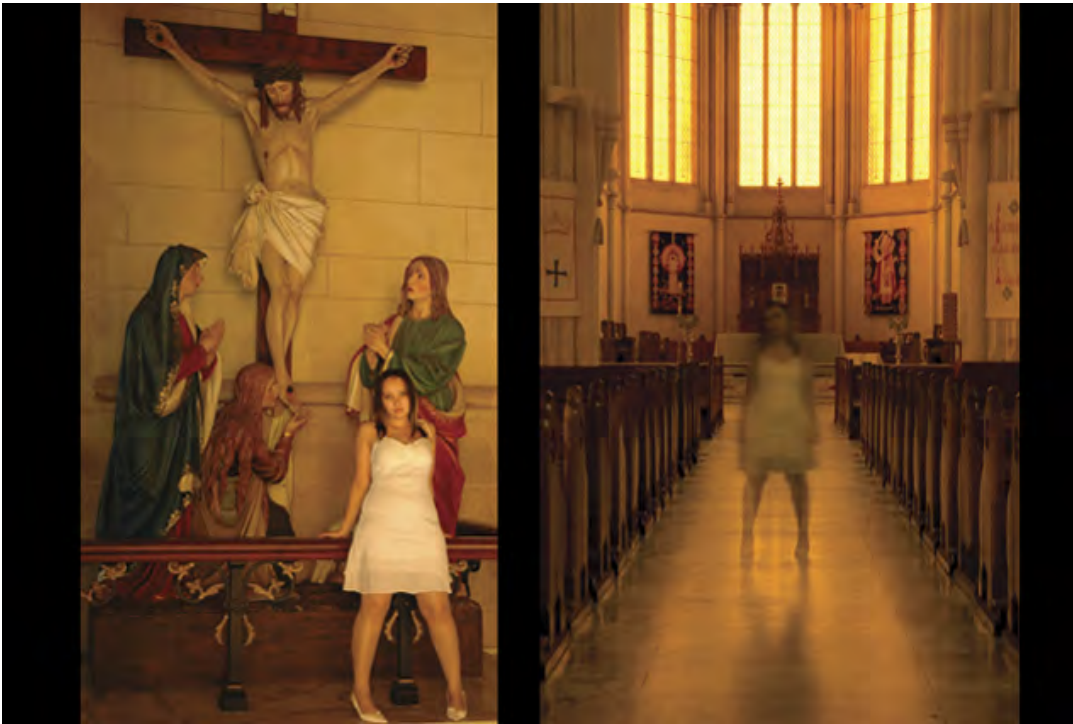

Master of Visual Arts (by Research)
